YOUR BREAKTHROUGH TO SUCCESS

5 LAWS OF A REAL
NET WORTH MARKETING LEADER

“Net Worth Marketing is a person-to-person business that makes both parties successful.
Only reliable networks generate high profits:
with respect, well-trained business partners and outstanding leadership.”

Harald Psaridis, The Net Worth Marketing Leader

What to expect in this eBook

Harald Psaridis currently lives in sunny California, near Los Angeles. As a motivating lecturer and in-house trainer for network marketing companies seeking massive advances in their sales, he is booked for appearances all over the world.

Raised in Vienna as a child of a Greek immigrant, Harald Psaridis has worked his way to the top on his own power. He began by completing training in the food-service industry, where he advanced to the position of manager. In 1988, he went into business for himself in the financial-services industry, where he enjoyed great success as a businessman. At the same time, he pursued a degree at the Danube University Krems, where his professors included Anthony Robbins. The sales firm he founded developed into a one of the leading European network marketing companies in the financial sector.

Today, as a speaker, lecturer, trainer and best-selling author, Harald Psaridis shares with others his knowledge derived from managing network marketing companies.

Harald Psaridis' core theme is Net Worth Marketing Leadership, in which he links the laws of success in network marketing with his well-known development program for managers: 'Frontline Leadership'. This is how he develops genuine leaders who guide their teams and businesses 'from the front' rather than remain in a purely strategic position. That's because a genuine "Frontline Leader" takes an active part in events, leading people by example to success and motivating people to do the same.

Naturally, achieving true leadership in network marketing calls for the manifestation of specific skills, knowledge, personality traits and competencies. Without this, leadership cannot be achieved – not in an organizational setting – market leadership in a specific market for network marketing, for instance – and not in an individual setting, either. With more than 30 years of experience in business, Harald Psaridis has collected these core competencies, this knowledge and these success-oriented behaviors, and has published them in a variety of media, in an online academy and in his lectures. So, of course this eBook can only be your point of entry – a little power-book that takes you along into the world of self-made success.

Harald Psaridis: “Naturally, you won’t be a perfect Net Worth Marketing Leader after reading this book – no book in this world can accomplish that. Here, I have written down the 5 key laws on the way to Net Worth Leadership, with a brief explanation of each.

Further information is available in discussions I have already published in a variety of media on several aspects of the laws – a list is included in the Appendix – and of course you’re free to invite me to train your sales company that the focus is always on one thing: the human being and his or her success. Net Worth Marketing – it’s worth it!”

Network Marketing is Net Worth Marketing

Five laws for success by the Net Worth Marketing Leader

Of course, there are more than five laws for success by the real Net Worth Marketing Leader, but let's start with the following five crucial principles:

- 1. Law of Net Worth Marketing Leadership:
Adopt the right mindset and develop the key characteristics
- 2. Law of Net Worth Marketing Leadership:
Be physically fit and derive joy from your job
- 3. Law of Net Worth Marketing Leadership:
Focus on genuine leadership, not on administration
- 4. Law of Net Worth Marketing Leadership:
Find the right business partners & master the challenge of the new starter
- 5. Law of Net Worth Marketing Leadership:
Practice true values & empower your business partners to succeed
